Contractors continue work on restoring the second floor of the Colortyme building in downtown La Grange. Pictured from left to right is Contractor Fred Bauer, Jim Apel, and Craig Coufal. The building is located at 103 N. Main at the intersection of Business 71 and Main Streets.

Owners Dick and Kay Carlton rehabilitated the two-story building in 1996 with assistance from the La Grange Main Street Program. Main Street continues to encourage downtown building owners through federal tax credit incentives to restore and utilize the second floors of their buildings for business and income purposes. Betty Bauer of La Grange currently owns the building. A new software company relocating to La Grange will lease the second floor of the building for office space once the restoration is complete. Opera Systems Software has scheduled their Grand Opening for November 3, 2000 at their new office location above Colortyme.
